Bible Study Banned on Pennsylvania Private Property

Government officials ordered Scott & Theresa Fetterolf to stop using their 35-acre farm to host Bible studies and other Christian gatherings or pay $500 per day in fines.

"Government should not target religious activities for punishment, particularly when similar secular activities are permitted," said Senior Counsel for the Independent Law Center. "In America, no government can categorically ban people from assembling to worship on one's own property."

Pastor & Wife Ordered to Stop Bible Studies in their Apartment

A semi-retired Lutheran pastor and his wife, both in their mid-80s, were ordered by their Virginia apartment complex to stop holding Bible studies or face eviction.

"Evicting elderly residents from their home for holding a Bible Study is not only outrageous, it's illegal," said counsel for First Liberty. "It's frightening that a management company would use the threat of eviction to stop residents from meeting together to discuss any issue, let alone their faith."

During my priestly formation years in the Seminary, we were involved in seminars that are different from our usual studies in Theology. The purpose was to give us a well-rounded experience of priestly ministry in the Church. One such program was on how to work with people with disabilities. During this seminar, we actually got to experience what it was like to be nearly blind. We were given special glasses to wear that made everything very blurry. We had to walk down the hallway and down the steps with these glasses. One certainly could not do this alone. We were given guides. Even though we could not see, the guides were our eyes in helping us not fall or bump into the walls. We needed to trust them.

In Mark's Gospel today, we see this man Bartimaeus who was blind from birth. Blindness like many other disabilities, was thought to be a curse from God. Those who could not see, could not work. So, Bartimaeus experienced suffering not only with his eyes, but with poverty and hunger. However, even though he was blind, he could see in other ways from his heart. He sensed that Jesus was someone very special in whom he could trust. Bartimaeus, who never saw Jesus, makes an act of faith in calling out to the Lord. Not only does he show great faith, but also great perseverance in not allowing others to prevent him from getting Jesus' attention. Jesus of course, grants him his request and opens him to the fullness of God's presence because he had faith.

While many of us may not be blind from sight, we are all blind by our sins that prevent us from seeing God in our midst and fully living out our faith. This is shown through our addictions, fears, anger, pride, selfishness and insecurities. Maybe we are just too busy to see the Lord in our midst. But, we must not lose hope because God in his infinite mercy is reaching out to all of us each day to help us to see his loving presence before him. We need not be afraid of him because Jesus who acts as our High Priest, knows what we are going through. He is able to "sympathize with our weaknesses" (Hebrews 4:15) and take them to the cross. Since he is victorious through the cross, we too share in his victory! But, do we really believe and trust Him or are we ashamed, afraid, and filled with doubt?

Our Catechism of the Catholic Church, tells us that we are "all invited by Jesus to enter the Kingdom of God. Even the worst of sinners is able to change and accept the boundless mercy of the Father. Already on earth the Kingdom belongs to those who accept it with a humble heart" (CCC 541-546, 567). We can form a humble and open heart by talking to God, asking for His grace, participating in the Mass, reading the Scriptures, receiving the sacraments, helping others and looking to others who are role models of faith as mentors. My dad, Stanley, who was an optometrist, helped us to see in more ways than one. He helped us to see life with faith, hope, perseverance and ultimately with love. He was a part of that "greatest generation" who taught us respect for others and self. He also taught us the gift of hospitality. My hope is to continue to follow his ways so that I can be lead closer to Jesus.

Notice that Bartimaeus did not return home. He went and followed Jesus. He shared his good fortune with others, helping them to see Jesus in their midst. We pray that the Lord will deliver each of us from our blindness to sight, in our heart, from death to new life. Once we really see the world and all around us through the eyes of faith, then we can truly find and serve Christ in one another and ultimately we pray, in Heaven.

Congratulations to Carol Hogan, who is this year's recipient of the St. Agnes Medal for dedicated service to our parish! Please pray for Carol and her family! More to come.

May God bless you and Mary keep you and your families always. May we remember to always do things for the greater glory of God. St. Ignatius Loyola, pray for us!

COMUNIDAD HISPANA

Dios Padre nos ha enviado a Su Hijo como señal de Su amor. Por eso Jesús nos pregunta a nosotros tanto como a los hijos de Zebedeo y al ciego: "¿Qué quieres que haga por ti?" No queremos desgastar la oportunidad pidiendo un favor frívolo: que sea un día bonito mañana por ejemplo. Ni queremos pedir algo vano como que me toque la lotería. Este es el tipo de deseo que expresan Santiago y Juan cuando responden a Jesús que se sienten a su derecha e izquierda en su Reino".

Sería mucho más provechoso si respondemos a la pregunta de Jesús como el ciego Bartimeo. El dice: "Maestro, que pueda ver".

No deberíamos pensar que ya tenemos la vista. Sí a lo mejor podemos distinguir el color rojo del color azul y un círculo de un cuadrado. Sin embargo, no las propiedades físicas de las cosas que no vemos claramente sino su verdadero valor. La capacidad de determinar lo que es realmente beneficioso para nosotros y lo que nos hará daño es lo que significa: "...que pueda ver". Para probarlo sólo tenemos que mirar lo que hace cuando recupera la vista. No invita a sus compañeros a celebrar su dicha. Ni regresa a casa para enseñársela a su familia. No, el evangelio lo pone de relieve: "...comenzó a seguirlo (eso es, a Jesús) por el camino". En otras palabras al recibir la vista de Jesús, Bartimeo se hace en discípulo de Señor.

Y ¿qué querríamos buscar con una verdadera vista? Una cosa que querría buscar yo es lo bueno de otras gentes y no primeramente sus faltas. Muchas veces juzgo mal por fijarme en lo negativo de personas y de grupos. Si podría fijarme en las buenas características, me haría menos cínico y más contento. Otra cosa que querría buscar este año es los políticos con una preocupación sincera por los vulnerables. Tengo en cuenta aquí a los candidatos que defienden a los no nacidos, a los pobres, y a los inmigrantes. Finalmente, querría buscar más colaboración entre los laicos y los sacerdotes. Querría ver a los sacerdotes compartiendo tanto el ministerio como el conocimiento del Señor.

Si fuera a buscar células sanas entre células cancerosas bajo un microscopio no podría verlas. Pero un biólogo no tendría ninguna dificultad hacerlo. Pues, tiene la vista para distinguir los diferentes tipos de células. Nosotros queremos una vista semejante. No nos importe la capacidad de distinguir entre las células, pero sí queremos distinguir lo bueno de lo malo. Lo podemos hacer por seguir a Jesús. Como Bartimeo en este evangelio, queremos seguir a Jesús.

Para la reflexión

¿Qué gritos escuchamos en nuestra sociedad? ¿Cómo gritan los pobres de nuestro tiempo? ¿Qué dicen? ¿Cómo podemos ayudarles a encontrar el camino? ¿Puede ser Jesús una ayuda en ese camino? ¿Cómo?

PRAY FOR OUR MILITARY

Anyone with a family member serving in the military, please forward their name and rank to our bulletin editor at bulletin1859@aol.com or bring the name to our Rectory Front Office.

We pray to give all of our military personnel the courage and strength to do the duty that is required of them. May they always remember our appreciation for the sacrifice they are making for us. We are thankful for the men and women who are willing to risk their lives to protect our freedom. I ask You to go with each of them and protect them wherever they go. Amen.
